in hospitals and urbanism in rome 1200 1500 carla keyvanian offers a new interpretation of the urban development of rome during three seminal centuries by focusing on the construction of public hospitals these monumental charitable institutions were urban expressions of sovereignty keyvanian traces the political reasons for their emergence and their architectural type in europe around 1200 in rome hospitals ballasted the corporate image of social elites aided in settling and garrisoning vital sectors and were the hubs around which strategies aimed at territorial control revolved when the strategies faltered the institutions were rapidly abandoned hospitals in areas of enduring significance instead still function bearing testimony to the influence of late medieval urban interventions on modern rome grubb's comprehensive analysis of his subjects compelling if inconspicuous lives investigates every significant aspect of private experience during the renaissance marriage birth death household relations work land social status and spirituality winner of the society for italian historical studies's howard r marraro prize originally published in 1996 historical writing on the renaissance has usually focused on the social extremes that co existed in the great metropolitan centers on either elites or the underclass as a result the world of the middling families and provincial societies remains largely unexplored daily experiences in the lesser cities are however no less rich and revealing than those of florence venice and milan in addition writes historian james grubb these experiences offer new perspectives from which to reassess familiar assumptions about domestic life in the fifteenth century based on memoirs and other records left by thirteen merchant families from the veneto cities of verona and vincenza provincial families of the renaissance is an engrossing study of daily lives that have until now been overlooked by scholars grubb examines the attitudes and experiences of families undistinguished in their modest means and local ambitions from the majority of their compatriots uncovering a detailed historical landscape rich in social obligations commercial activities and religious beliefs grubb's comprehensive analysis of his subjects compelling if inconspicuous lives investigates every significant aspect of private experience during the renaissance marriage birth death household relations work land social status and spirituality in reconstructing provincial life in the Veneto Grubb discovers in his subjects an independence of mind that mediated their reception of metropolitan ideologies far more than the historiography of the Renaissance might suggest these unremarkable provincials were agents of their own destiny influenced in equal measures by prevailing attitudes local customs and personal convictions James Grubb is exploring new terrain in this book distinguished by its clarity and eloquence this is a superior work of historical writing and analysis that merits comparison with the best monographs on the social history of Renaissance Italy Gene Brucker University of California at Berkeley

Reappraisal of the pioneering humanist scholar Biondo Flavio during his lifetime the historian and antiquarian Biondo Flavio 1392-1463 struggled to obtain recognition as a major contributor to the humanistic movement of the fifteenth century throughout the Renaissance fellow Italian scholars far too often condemned rather than endorsed his scholarly works his troublesome career and mixed reputation among his peers stand in stark contrast with the highly innovative character of his learning which proved to be ground breaking for the further development of various strands of historical and antiquarian research in the early modern age the authors of this volume aim to contribute to a reappraisal of this pioneering humanist scholar by a fresh assessment of his major writings in the fields of historical linguistics historiography Roman topography and historical geography contributors Angelo Mazzocco Mount Holyoke College Marc Laureys Universität Bonn Giuseppe Marcellino Scuola Normale Superiore di Pisa Fulvio delle Donne Università della Basilicata Fabio della Schiava Universität Bonn Paolo Pontari Università di Pisa Catherine Castner University of South Carolina Jeffrey White St Bonaventure University Frances Muecke University of Sydney
